Appropriations For Air Mail Routes Cut Some of the Mail Plane Services To Be Abandoned

Principal Services in Canada Will Be Continued If Parliament Approves Government's Plans As Outlined in Estimates; Civil Air Operations Scheduled for Reduction.

Canadian Press
Ottawa, April 14.—The aviation estimates for the current fiscal year have been cut by over $2,250,000, bringing the vote down from $7,475,700 last year to $5,142,000. Examination of the details, however, discloses to those most closely concerned with the development of aviation in Canada that the effect of the reduction in general will not be as serious as was originally feared.

There is a decrease of $900,000 for air mail routes. Thus for the air mail a more difficult situation develops. Only $100,000 is proposed for the maintenance of the radio beacons, directional wireless along the air mail routes and other things. Whether the civil aviation branch can get along with this is a problem. A number of the unremunerative air mail services are proposed to be scrapped, but in the main the principal services will continue unaffected.

The largest item reduced is that of civil air operations, the decrease being $1,280,000. A survey of the reduction indicates that the item would, of necessity, have been cut this year inasmuch as a large number of non-recurring expenditures have been eliminated. The restoration of their natural resources to the western provinces is responsible for much of the drop. Formerly the civil aviation branch of the Department of National Defence assumed all responsibility for forestry patrol, eliminating of grain pests, aerial photographic surveys, etc. in those provinces. Now, however, the provincial governments will themselves have to take over such work, or, if they require its continuance, be obliged to pay the federal government for it. To perform this duty the dominion had to establish airways and bases of operation, had to provide the machines and pilots. With the resources now in the hands of the provinces, the dominion has washed its hands of all these obligations.

EARLY DEBATE
The estimates will soon be debated in the Commons. They are included in the main estimates brought down late yesterday evening by Premier Bennett as Finance Minister.

KING RECUPERATES
Windsor, Eng., April 14.—King George continues to make good progress in shaking off a bronchitis attack which overtook him ten days ago, it was announced at Windsor Castle this morning.

The Queen motored to London today to attend the wedding of Miss Ann Keppel, daughter of Sir Derek Keppel, Master of the King's Household, at 2 p.m. at St. Margaret's, Westminster.

Bennett's Policy Termed "Double-dyed Hypocrisy"

Hon. W. R. Motherwell, Addressing Commons, Scores Premier's Attitude at Imperial Conference and Poor Trade Development; Neil Asks Bonus For Island Coal

Ottawa, April 14.—Hon. W. R. Motherwell, who was minister of agriculture in the King Government, yesterday afternoon delivered a multiple-barbed attack on the Bennett Government's record. For Canada to refuse to trade with Russia was a "mad policy" and in doing so, this country was only "cutting off its nose to spite its face," he said. He also analyzed and sharply criticized Premier Bennett's policies at the recent Imperial Conference.

During the day the House heard from A. W. Neil, Independent, Comox, Alberni, a plea for a bonus of $150 a ton for coal mined on Vancouver Island for export to enable it to enter the South American market.

Hon. Maurice Dupre, Solicitor-General last July, faced the House for the first time as the debate on the address continued.

WHEAT PRICE
Pegging of wheat for the purpose of stabilizing prices was the subject of reference by Mr. Motherwell, who asserted a former government had been

POLICE BOARD MEMBER REPLIES TO CHARGES

H. Burgess Says He Will Explain Incidents to Vancouver Council

Did Not Take Truck to House and Carry Stolen Lumber Away, He States

Canadian Press
Vancouver, April 14.—"So the chief has put me on the spot? Well, I shall have something to say when the time comes, and I am sure the public will change its mind then."

With these words, Police Commissioner Harry Burgess this forenoon announced his intention of seeking the earliest opportunity to reply to charges made to the Vancouver City Council yesterday afternoon by Police Chief W. J. Bingham that the commissioner had been guilty of two offences against the law and had incurred of the chief the financial possibilities of a police commissioner's "job."

CONFIDENCE VOICED
"While it is dangerous for me to say anything, I must say this: I have every faith in Harry Burgess," said Police Commissioner Norman McLean today. This statement he refused to explain or amplify.

"I am not going to make any statement just now," said Mr. Burgess. "I first wish to get an official copy of the chief's letter. Then I prefer the council should get its first idea of my answer from me and not through the columns of the newspapers."

"I can assure the public I have a complete answer to the chief's statement, and I will certainly welcome the first opportunity to appear before the aldermen and make my statement."

QUESTION OF CHIEFSHIP
The commissioner recalled that he and Commissioner Norman McLean last Saturday had presented an unsuccessful resolution to the police commission for dismissal of Bingham as chief, with one month's pay.

TRY TO FIND GRAIN "SHORTS"

Federal Inquiry Commissioners Hear J. A. Richardson at Session in Winnipeg

By Gills Purc. Canadian Press Staff Writer
Winnipeg, April 14.—James A. Richardson, prominent Canadian grain man, undertook today to identify the "short" sellers in a "bull" wheat market. His testimony, before the federal commission inquiring into futures trading in Canada, was intended to answer the effort of Sir Josiah Stamp, chairman, to determine the source of the futures selling interest which must balance the buying by "bulls."

Mr. Richardson enumerated the selling interests as follows:
1. Farmers disposing of unhedged wheat, forcing hedging sales by the market.
2. Traders who have bought futures at lower prices and are anxious to sell on the rising market.
3. Professional "speculators" who might buy wheat in other markets and sell at Winnipeg.
4. Regular hedging from day to day, such as deliveries to elevators.

If she docks at that time she will cut about six hours off her previous fastest voyage and will have crossed in approximately seven days and twenty-one hours, compared with eight days, three hours and twenty-seven minutes which was her record in February. Since leaving Yokohama last Thursday the Empress of Japan has been averaging 22.3 knots. She is expected to reach the Blithers piers here about 10 o'clock Thursday evening and will proceed to Vancouver about midnight, being due at mainland port at 6 o'clock Friday morning.

Potential Field On Pacific Coast For Scotch Woolens

Delegation Representative of Scotch Manufacturers Reaches Victoria

Object Is to Explore Possibilities of New Markets and New Methods

"One thing stands out very prominently as the result of our investigations and that is the potential field for Scotch tweed cloths on the Pacific coast," said James Macpherson Brown, vice-president of the National Association of Scottish Woolen Manufacturers, and leader of the mission which arrived in the city today with the intention of convincing Canadians that suitings made of Scotch woolens have no peer in the world.

The mission is representative of the National Association of Scottish Woolen Manufacturers and includes, in addition to Mr. Macpherson Brown, who is chairman and managing director of William Brown, Sons and Company, Limited of Glasgow; John Hutchison, senior partner of Beckett and Robertson, Innerleithen; honorary vice-president of the Association of British Chambers of Commerce and chairman of the Home Affairs and Transport Committee; Edward S. Harrison, partner in the firm of James Johnston and Company, Elgin; Mullin, Arthur, Mullin, C.B.E., representing the British department of overseas trade.

Attached to the group in western Canada is A. E. Pollard, British trade commissioner.

RESULTS ACHIEVED
"Our mission, which is truly representative of the trade, is charged to gather information and explore all possibilities of new markets and new methods of marketing," said Mr. Macpherson Brown, following the arrival of the delegation at the Empress Hotel this morning from Seattle.

"We arrived in New York on March 10 and the results of our tour to date have exceeded our most sanguine expectations." We visited all the big centres of the United States, including Boston, Philadelphia, Rochester, which is the big clothing centre; Cleveland, Detroit and Chicago, before coming on to the great west and the coast with Los Angeles, San Francisco, Portland and Seattle as the outstanding points of call.

FASHION DEMANDS NOVELTY
Fashion constantly demands novelty, a member of the delegation said. For some years past now the great trend of Scotland, which since the institution of the trade had been popularly identified with the rough but durable suitings worn by mere men, had been catering to fine dress materials for ladies' wear.

Through the hundred years that have followed the inauguration of the tweed trade, every variety of check, design and coloring exploited, every type of cloth coping with the definition of Scotch tweed had been produced, until one marvels that something new could still be evolved. It is this struggle to satisfy the public taste with new designs, new colorings and new cloths that has made the Scottish trade the

MISS BENNETT IS CHARMING BRIDE TO-DAY

Married to Major W. D. Hertridge at Service in Ottawa Church

Governor-General Toasts Bride at Reception at Premier's Hotel Home

By ISABEL C. ARMSTRONG Canadian Press Correspondent

Ottawa, April 14.—In a charming and impressive ceremony, Miss Mildred Mariann Bennett, sister of Premier R. B. Bennett, to-day was married to Maj. William Duncan Hertridge, Canadian Minister to the United States, in Chalmers United Church here.

Delightful spring weather graced the occasion.

In accordance with the wishes of the bride and groom, emphasis was placed on the religious significance of the ceremony, which took place at 3:30 p.m. Other than the Governor-General and the Countess of Beatrix, the invited guests included immediate relatives only.

Not only in Ottawa, but throughout the Dominion, the Premier's sister is known for her charm and vivacity, and outside the church a throng of people waited to wish the couple happiness.

SERVICE FULLY CHORAL
Cytobium ferns, banking the communion table and pulpit stairways and tall gold standards filled with Easter lilies added a festive touch to the solemnity of the service. The full choir was in attendance and a musical programme of deep impressiveness accompanied the service. At a quarter past three o'clock the strains of the Gullmunt Wedding March were heard. "This was followed by a short recital of appropriate prayers."

JAPANESE IN B.C. ILLEGALLY ARE TRACED

Some of Vancouver Trustees Object to Hinchliffe's Scheme For Teachers

Canadian Press
Vancouver, April 14.—Belief that many Japanese have illegally entered Canada is expressed by police following information disclosed during the investigation into circumstances surrounding the murder of N. Watanabe, who was hacked to death with an axe on March 30. Three Japanese, Shinkichi Sakurada, T. Hitomi and M. Bunshiro, are charged with the murder.

Immigration authorities have been called on to co-operate with police in checking up on a number of Japanese residents who are believed to have entered the country improperly.

Kiyokata Kusada, charged with having narcotics in his possession, appeared in police court and was remanded until April 21. Kusada was arrested following a raid made Sunday on premises on East Cordova Street, where it is alleged the man was operating a private hospital which was not licensed. A quantity of drugs, alleged to be cocaine and morphine, were seized by the officers.

LIEUT.-GOVERNOR BRUCE TO RETURN TO CITY IN JUNE

Will Reach Victoria in Time For Jubilee Celebrations, Report Says

Tells of British Columbia Resources in Interview in England

Lieutenant-Governor R. Randolph Bruce, who left for England last month, will return to Victoria in June, before the expiry of his extended term, when British Columbia will celebrate the Diamond Jubilee of her inclusion in the Dominion of Canada, according to word received in Victoria this morning.

The information is contained in Canada, the magazine published in London, devoted to matters of interest to the dominion. In the course of an article on His Honor, described as the Scotsman who has been Lieutenant-Governor of British Columbia since February, 1926, and has been actively interested in the development of that province for over forty-four years, the magazine says Lieutenant-Governor Bruce will return to Victoria before the expiry of his extended term of office in June. It mentions that his recent visit to England made his sixty-sixth birthday the Atlantic.

BUT TWO VOTES SAVE SCULLIN FROM DEFEAT

Labor Government of Australia Has Close Shave in House of Representatives

Canadian Press Cable Via Reuter's
Canberra, Australia, April 14.—The Labor Government of Premier James Scullin was saved from defeat in the House of Representatives today by only two votes, the narrowest margin it has yet received.

The vote was of a motion of censure moved by Hon. John Greig Latham, official leader of the opposition, who called attention to a deficit of roughly $100,000,000.

The government was saved by the support of the extremists of the Labor Party, who now, since their removal from the cabinet, hold the balance of power in the house.

LANG'S STATES POSITION
Canadian Press Cable Via Reuter's
Melbourne, Victoria, April 14.—Premier J. T. Lang of New South Wales, head of Australian Labor left wing, delivered a statement of policy on debt repudiation today and declared that if British financial interests would allow Australia two years in which to get her house in order, she would then meet every just commitment.

The Lang Government defaulted interest payments of more than $5,000,000 due in London on April 1. The Commonwealth Government paid that amount, and is now seeking to recover from the state by legal action.

COMPARISONS MADE
Declaring his speech was directed wholly to British financial interests, Premier Lang said:

"If you can not treat us as you treated France and Italy, then treat us as you treated Belgium, and even Germany."

M.P.'S ADJOURN FOR RECEPTION

Ottawa, April 14.—The House of Commons adjourned at 4:30 this afternoon until 8 p.m. in order to give the members an opportunity to attend the reception given by Premier R. B. Bennett. The reception followed the marriage today of Miss Mildred Bennett, the Prime Minister's sister, to Major Hertridge, Canadian Minister to Washington.

Provisional Republican Government Headed by Niceto Alcala Zamora Takes Control When Alfonso Signs Abdication and Leaves Palace; Streets of Madrid Jammed With Automobiles and People Waving Republican and Red Flags.

By Clarence Dubose, Associated Press Correspondent
Madrid, April 14.—King Alfonso, the last of the Bourbons, abdicated at 6 o'clock this evening (10 o'clock this forenoon, Victoria time), and Niceto Alcala Zamora, Republican leader, who not so many weeks ago was in jail for his activities, became Provisional President.

The King signed his abdication at 6 o'clock and as he left the cabinet room he embraced his minister with considerable emotion. He said he left the throne with his conscience tranquil, having always worked for the welfare of the country.

NO WORK IN MADRID ON REPUBLIC DAY

Police Helpless in Flood of Traffic as People Cheer Change of Government

Taxis and Motor Trucks Carry Throng Through Streets as Flags Fly

Associated Press

Madrid, April 14.—As news that the Republic of Spain had been established spread through the city vast throngs of people left their work, joining the huge crowds on the streets, staging demonstrations, carrying banners and parading while the police and civil guards stood by without attempting to break up the pandemonium.

The crowds cheered taxis and trucks which were filled with persons draped in red and republican banners. In the Puerta del Sol the traffic resembled a metropolitan after-theatre jam which the police were helpless to straighten out. Those who did not join the processions lined balconies over the streets, cheering the paraders.

In the principal squares where the demonstrations were noisiest, windows of stores and houses were shuttered to prevent breakage.

King Alfonso's abdication was announced at 6 p.m.

CLOSE VOTE IS EXPECTED

MacDonald Government Foresees Small Majority in Test Thursday in Commons

Members Resume Session After Easter Recess With Party Whips Busy

By George Hambleton, Canadian Press Staff Correspondent

London, April 14.—Parliament re-assembled today with the party whips busy counting heads. Neither today nor tomorrow does the order paper offer any difficulties for the government, but on Thursday the Conservatives, led by Rt. Hon. Stanley Baldwin, will launch their attack on the government's unemployment record. The government may have a close shave.

With Labor's own strength reduced by vacancies and secessions, the Liberals hold the whip hand.

The government majority may be small, but there is general expectation it will scrape through. If it is defeated, Premier MacDonald has indicated he will either resign or dissolve Parliament and call a general election.

Niceto Alcala Zamora telephoned Francisco Macia, leader of the new republic at Barcelona, this afternoon and exchanged felicitations.

"The two republics of Spain and Catalan will work in friendship, harmony and co-operation," Alcala Zamora told Macia.

The tentative cabinet of the new Spanish Provisional Republican Government was announced this afternoon as follows:

Niceto Alcala Zamora, President.
Miguel Maura, Minister of the Interior.
Indalecio Prieto, Finance.
Alvaro Albornoz, Justice.
Alejandro Lerroux, Foreign Affairs.
Manuel Azana, War.
Marcelino Domingo, Labor.
Francisco Largo Caballero, Public Works.
Fernando de Los Rios, Instruction.
Casares Gil, Economy.

No announcement was made of a navy minister.

The red, yellow and purple flag of the republic had already been hoisted on the central post office in Madrid this afternoon in anticipation of the actual end of the monarchy. Thousands in the streets were cheering for the republic, but no fighting or disorders were in evidence. Reports indicated much the same condition prevailed throughout the rest of the country.

DELAYED LONG AS POSSIBLE
Although the king's abdication was an unquestioned outcome of the political crisis of the last few days, which had its climax in the municipal elections last Sunday, it was not until the last moment he stepped from power.

At 4:45 p.m. Alcala Zamora had found it necessary to send an ultimatum to the king's ministers saying that unless a republic were formally accepted within an hour, the Republicans would not be responsible for the consequences.

The hour went by and then just fifteen minutes after the ultimatum had expired, the abdication of the king became a reality.

The announcement was made at 6 o'clock after a final session with the cabinet in the royal palace.

The Republican Government, with Alcala Zamora as President, took charge immediately.

The republican flag flew on all public buildings after the abdication was announced. Excited crowds gave full vent to their joy.

The principal thoroughfares were jammed with motor cars filled with men waving republican and red flags.

SEATTLE INQUIRY

Seattle, April 14.—The Seattle city council yesterday, after a stormy session, appointed a preliminary committee to investigate charges filed against Mayor Frank Edwards by forces seeking his recall. Councilmen O. T. Erickson, John Carroll and John W. Hill moved the council drop impeachment proceedings, but their motion was defeated. The impeachment and recall actions grew out of the mayor's discharge of J. D. Ross as city light superintendent on March 9.

SAY TRADING IN WHEAT BENEFIT TO PRODUCERS

Witnesses at Grain Inquiry Claim No Price Manipulation on Winnipeg Market

World-wide System of Insurance to Cover Grain Holding Suggested by Chairman

Winnipeg, April 14.—Questioned by Sir Josiah Stamp, chairman, prominent grain men who appeared as witnesses before the Federal Grain Inquiry Commission here yesterday, were unanimous in stating they had seen no evidence of price manipulation on the Winnipeg market, and in believing that futures trading rebounded to the producers' benefit. It was contended speculation increased the upward curve of a rising market, but did not accentuate the decline of a dropping market, since, according to evidence, virtually all speculators were on the upside.

The position of the clients of A. O. White, president of the Winnipeg Exchange and head of the commission business under his own name, is invariably long, according to a statement read by Mr. White. He quoted his company's records since the beginning of 1929 to show the net position of his clients' open contracts was long on 831 of 833 days. He said he believed the records of all other brokers operating similar offices would show similar conditions.

"But there must be a net short position on the part of some other brokers to balance up," suggested Sir Josiah, referring to the exchange system whereby every purchase must be balanced by a corresponding sale.

Mr. White sought to show that against the long position of numerous brokers was the short position of the elevator companies throughout the country which are holding vast stores of "hedged" wheat. When elevator wheat is hedged, it is sold on the futures market for delivery at a stipulated time and at the current price, so the holder is protected against fluctuations. But Sir Josiah sought to find the "unhedged" short interest necessary to balance the mounting total of long wheat in the case of a bull market, since hedges cannot exceed the amount of actual wheat, a comparatively stable figure.

"PUT MORE IN THAN THEY TAKE OUT." "I believe speculators as a whole put more money into the grain market than they take out, and by so doing enable the producer to secure a higher price for his grain," said Mr. White in his statement, adding: "Brokers as a whole prefer advancing prices, or what is called a bull market, as they invariably do much more business on an upward market than on a declining one."

"You tell us in the first place that speculation does not pay," pointed out Sir Josiah, "and then you support still greater speculation."

"Well," smiled Mr. White, "that is the speculator's business." "As well as the manager of bulls, who act like sheep and bears and wolves, we have the poor moth who cannot help burning his wings," answered Sir Josiah, "and now we are going to breed them. It seems odd that the well-being of the producer and the improvement in the price of wheat should be really parasitic on the gambling habit of a certain portion of the population. And do you think we can get the average farmer really to believe speculation presents him with money?"

START OF BULL MARKET. R. T. Evans, vice-president of the British American Elevator Company, believed bull markets commenced at the point where altered conditions in the world wheat situation were first noticed. His response was given in a query by the chairman as to whether short selling started the buyers going or vice versa. Which came first the hen or the egg? Sir Josiah asked. Mr. Evans stated he considered the small speculators made more on the market than the big speculators.

F. W. Ross, Winnipeg superintendent of the Bank of Nova Scotia, and R. J. Williams, Winnipeg manager of the Bank of Montreal, testified on behalf of the Winnipeg banks and concurred in the submitted statement on the need for futures trading. Mr. Ross pointed out the wheat pools were not asked to hedge because they fixed an initial price considered reasonable with relation to the market price. O. J. or customers were asked to hedge their holdings lest the market fluctuate suddenly.

Both Mr. Ross and Mr. Williams supported the suggestion that short selling on the Winnipeg market during a bull movement were spread over the world, since they could not be traced by bank account movements. Both stated loans were not granted to speculators unless on unimpeachable security, and even then the practice was discouraged.

SOCIAL OUTCAST.

"The speculator seems to be a social outcast, although the benefits the public," observed Sir Josiah, and regarding the quest for his identity.

added: "It is surprising anyone is doing these good deeds by stealth."

"Have you ever thought of a world-wide system of insurance to cover the risk of grain holding for a small premium instead of hedging?" asked Sir Josiah of Mr. Ross following the bank statement on the need of the options market. "No," replied the witness.

ITS TRAVELS. To-day the commission continued its session in Winnipeg. Following Thursday's sessions it will proceed to Regina and Calgary. Next week the commission will visit Minneapolis and Chicago.

$81,000 FOR B.C. BUILDINGS

Improvements and Repairs to Federal Structures Included in Estimates Tabled

Ottawa, April 14.—The total appropriations for public buildings in British Columbia appearing in the main estimates, tabled in the House of Commons yesterday, are $81,000. Of that sum $45,000 is asked for improvements and repairs to Dominion public buildings, and $36,000 to meet one year's interest on a mortgage of $400,000 on the Vancouver public building.

ALBERTA VOTES. An appropriation of $375,000 for the public building under contract in Calgary is included in the estimates. The appropriation for that building at the last session of parliament was $1,000,000.

Alberta estimates include a vote of $60,000 for the public building at Drumheller, which is now under contract. A further appropriation of $35,000 appears for a public building at Edmonton, and $36,000 for a similar structure at High River.

SASKATCHEWAN BUILDINGS. The total appropriation asked for public buildings in Saskatchewan is $176,060. That sum includes a vote of $38,000 for a public building at Watrous, $20,000 for an addition to the public building at Regina, $31,000 for payment of the third instalment on the purchase of the Regina Armory, $28,000 for a public building at Kamaskia, and $22,000 for the public building at Lumsden. In a number of these undertakings the appropriations include re-votes of sums appropriated last year.

HOSPITAL AT DUNCAN UNDER DISCUSSION

King's Daughters' Convention Exercised By Difficulties of Maintenance

Closing of Lumber Camps and Lack of Local Support Cause Deficit

Difficulties facing the King's Daughters' Hospital at Duncan owing to the falling-off of revenue due to the closing of the lumber camps, and also, according to the report of Dr. A. S. Lamb, provincial inspector, owing to the local tendency to resort to hospitalization, exercised the attention of the provincial convention of the King's Daughters at its opening session yesterday evening. A resolution suggesting the handing over of the hospital to the Cowichan electoral district in trust was deferred until to-day, pending the hearing of views of members of the Board of Directors.

At the evening session Mrs. C. A. Welsh, of New Westminster, presided, in the unavoidable absence of Miss Margaret S. Ross, provincial president. A message of greeting was received from Mrs. Leibel, international president. Rev. H. P. S. Luttrell conducted the devotions. George Cuy sang two solos, with Miss Brumpton at the piano, which were much appreciated. Mrs. L. H. Hardie welcomed the delegates to Victoria, to which response was given by Mrs. Bingham, Vancouver. Mrs. Williamson, New Westminster, Mrs. Curry, Cloverdale and Miss Wilson, Duncan. Committees appointed were: Credentials, Miss Bertha Morley and Miss Kathleen Roberts; resolutions, Mrs. Lewthwaite, Mrs. Goss and Mrs. Leibel; ballots, Mrs. Thomas, Mrs. Sharp, Mrs. Collings and Mrs. Keary.

Correspondence included a letter of thanks from Mrs. James Stewart, in appreciation of flowers and greetings. A message of sympathy was sent to Mrs. Ross, provincial president, in the serious illness of her brother, which prevented her attendance at the convention.

Mrs. R. R. Watson, the provincial treasurer, presented the financial statement, showing total receipts of $1,884.34, and disbursements $1,200.12.

RESOLUTIONS CONSIDERED
Resolutions were taken up, changing the constitution to conform to the requirements of the laws governing incorporated societies, among the amendments being one to change the provincial executive from nine to four, so that it consists of the district presidents and four additional members. This latter was an amendment to leave the executive as it is at present, but that the October meeting be eliminated.

PRESIDENT'S ADDRESS
Miss Ross, the president, in her annual address, which was read to the gathering, contained reference to the matter of the King's Daughters' Hospital at Duncan, whose affairs called for urgent attention. "The board of directors had requested the provincial government to send an inspector to make an investigation of the hospital, Dr. Lamb being accordingly appointed. Matters then advanced rapidly and the board of directors had sent a resolution suggesting the hospital be handed over to some reliable and responsible party. This resolution was endorsed by the provincial executive meeting in March, and it was agreed that the King's Daughters would not oppose any effort to help out the existing situation. It now awaits the final endorsement by the whole body of the King's Daughters now assembled," continued the report.

VANCOUVER'S WORK
Miss Ross tendered congratulations to the members in Vancouver on the attainment of their ideal—the establishment of a convalescent home, and to the members in the formation of its first junior circle.

She expressed sympathy with the Cowichan circles in their disappointment at having to stand aside and see the hospital work pass from their hands, but pointed out that such was an inevitable sign of progress in the work they had started and carried on so splendidly for many years, practically unaided. "You will, I hope, still act as the Women's Auxiliary and you will find many avenues for service among the people who come to the hospital," continued the president's report. She noted that there are twenty-eight circles in the province, with a total membership of 659. Members were reminded of the triennial international convention in Fredericton, New Brunswick, from May 27 to 29.

A suggested amendment that the provincial president be also central council member was defeated, and the member who was elected as president.

INSPECTOR'S REPORT
The report of the King's Daughters' Hospital at Duncan by Dr. Lamb, provincial government inspector, was read. No laxity in business methods was suggested by the per diem cost, said Dr. Lamb, and such a cost could by no means be considered exorbitant. The question of a training school for graduates is one governed by local conditions and as such should be dealt with, he said. He referred to the apparent local prejudice against the training school, many residents seeking hospitalization in Victoria or Vancouver, on the ground that an undergraduate staff, such as is in Duncan, was less efficient.

CLOSING OF CAMPS
The closing of the lumber-camps and consequent lowering of receipts should be met by the closing down of some of the beds in the male wards, and other slight changes, which would necessitate a smaller staff and consequent lowering of overhead expenses, suggested Dr. Lamb. He also pointed out that the institution had become too large a responsibility for the King's Daughters, and he thought that it might bring about an awakening of a wider "hospital consciousness" if the community, which raised much of the money, shared also in the responsibility of the hospital maintenance.

MRS. PLAYFAIR'S REPORT
Mrs. R. P. Playfair, representative of the King's Daughters on the board of directors of the hospital, gave her report. Trade depression and closing of the lumber camps caused a heavy drop in revenue, yet owing to the training school, the same number of undergraduates had to be kept on, revealing this as a weakness. Yet it was a condition which in no way cast any aspersions on the King's Daughters of Duncan. These members had pledged their support to the new "overrun" body and the order as a whole would always give sympathetic support to the undertaking.

Prior to the opening session in the evening, a banquet was served by the Women's Guild of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, over seventy enjoyed the excellent repast. Each of the delegates were presented with a charming floral emblem in purple and white, the colors of the order, the handiwork of Mrs. R. R. Playfair.

"PROTECT—Silks...Woollens...Linens with this Purer Soap"...

says Mrs. Hilda Doran Ross

MANY women have written asking me why their precious silks, woollens and linens wear out so quickly. Why their hands are always red and rough. To all I answer "The soap you are using contains harsh caustic. I advise Princess Soap Flakes, because they are all pure soap. Not a bit of filler or free caustic."

Just notice the rich abundant suds that keep coming up, when you use Princess Flakes. See how little soap you use to get all these suds. That's proof number one that Princess Flakes are purer.

Then notice how delicate coloured silks and linens never fade.

How woollens stay soft and fluffy. How hands never get red and rough, but stay soft, smooth and white. Do you wonder that women everywhere use this pure soap for every household need. For laundry work. For dishwashing. For wiping floors and linoleum.

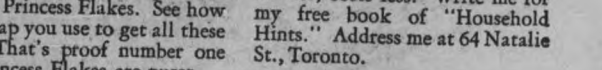

"But can I afford such a pure soap for every task?" you may ask. Yes, because this purer soap goes further, costs less. Write me for my free book of "Household Hints." Address me at 64 Natalie St., Toronto.

Reno, Nevada, April 14.—Jack Dempsey, former heavyweight champion pugilist, is in Reno for divorce. He is not here of his own volition, but at the request of his wife, he and his secretary Leonard Sachs, admitted yesterday.

Dempsey completely reversed his former statements in which he asserted that he and his wife, Estelle Taylor of the films, were still very much in love with each other and that he did not contemplate any divorce proceedings.

Yesterday he concluded negotiations for lease of a large home in the fashionable residential district. When told that his wife had made the statement in Hollywood that she did not believe he had issued any statement that he

Corrected Diet Will Remedy Appetite for Strange Objects

Pica, in medicine, means an appetite for the unstable. The child suffering from pica nibbles the paint from his crib, bites chunks off his wooden toys, picks up ashes and coal and fuzes and hair and swallows them with relish. Whatever the name, the habit itself presents difficulties for the mother who is trying to overcome it. "I have been reading your column and find much that is good in it," comments Mrs. A.H.F. Jr. "I am writing to you in regard to my thirteen months old daughter, who has eleven teeth, walks all over, goes to bed at 8.30 and sleeps until seven.

WOMEN DISCUSS MANY MATTERS

Local Council Considers Fuel Oil, Pork, Boy Cyclists and Legislative Salaries

Oil fuel, pork boys on bicycles, and the salaries of the members of the Legislature were among the very varied subjects discussed at the meeting of the Local Council of Women yesterday afternoon. The Nanaimo Council being the source of the majority of the resolutions which introduced these matters. Nanaimo's resolution calling for the safeguarding of the coal industry of the province by the imposition of a protective tariff on foreign fuel, was referred to the Provincial Council for legislation. Inquiry on the use of British Columbia coal for heating purposes in all government offices was referred to the industries committee of the council for investigation and report at the next meeting.

TARIFF ON PORK

The meeting, after considerable discussion, did not endorse a resolution requesting the Provincial Council of Women to investigate the customs returns as to the quantity of foreign pork that has been cleared at the port of Vancouver from foreign ports during the last six months of 1930 up to the present time, "with a view to asking the federal government to impose a protective tariff on such pork if this complaint is correct."

Another resolution from Nanaimo asking that the members of the Legislative Assembly of British Columbia be requested to put into effect as soon as possible a reduction of their own salaries to make them conform with the salaries effective prior to the advance in salaries passed by the government, also aroused much discussion but was not endorsed.

BOYS ON BICYCLES

The council lent its approval to a motion "that boys on bicycles be made to conform to the rule of the road" in the interests of their own safety as well as of others.

Mrs. I. Wellyn Thomas, convener of the films committee, gave her report which included, among other matters, the result of her inquiries as to the feasibility of establishing a special movie theatre for children in Victoria. Local theatre managers, when approached, had declared that such a venture was not needed in Victoria.

DENTAL HYGIENE

The council decided to contribute to the National Council's fund to honor Mrs. J. A. Wilson, who is retiring after five years as national president.

A plea for the preservation of the teeth as a preventive of many serious ailments was made by Dr. H. S. Thompson of the Canadian Dental Hygiene Council before the Local Council of Women yesterday afternoon.

"Twenty-seven per cent. of the world have dental decay, sixty-four per cent. of the people of France have decayed teeth, forty-seven per cent. of the people of Central Europe. The Maoris have but one per cent. The Eskimos only one-third that number. As the result of our dental condition we have lowered resistance to disease, nervous troubles, definite heart lesions, rheumatism," noted the speaker. He advocated the inclusion of more uncooked fruits and vegetables to the diet as a means to the preservation of the general health and the teeth.

JUNIOR FARM CLUB NOW ON NATIONAL BASIS

Boys' and Girls' Clubs Organized Under a Canadian Council

Canadian Press

Ottawa, April 14.—Establishment of all farm boys' and girls' club work in Canada upon a national basis, guided by a central executive with headquarters at Ottawa, representative of all Dominion Government and other organizations interested, has been effected during the past few weeks with the organization of what is known as the Canadian Council on boys' and girls' club work.

The new plan considered to be an advanced step in agriculture, has been brought into being with the active co-operation and approval of Hon. Robert Weir, Dominion Minister of Agriculture, and already has the sanction of most of the provincial ministers on agriculture. The plan and policies of the new organization have been worked out by a committee.

NATIONWIDE POLICY

The plan will come into operation at once, and a permanent secretary has been appointed in the person of Alex. MacLaurin, who has resigned his position as livestock commissioner for the Province of New Brunswick, to take up his new work at Ottawa at once.

The main object of the plan is to co-ordinate all the junior farm and club work of the various provinces, bringing it into line with a nationwide agricultural policy. The importance of this lies in the fact that the boys and girls' club work in the various provinces has developed during the last few years to such an extent that it has become a very vital factor in assisting in determining the quality of livestock and other classes of farm production in many districts in Canada, and in influencing the methods of marketing of such products.

In the past each province has carried out its own particular policy with respect to the work of the junior farm clubs. Under the new plan, while the provincial agricultural authorities will continue to supervise their farm clubs as in the past, it is hoped through the medium of the new organization to effect a greater co-ordination of the club work, and a greater uniformity of policy.

CHAMPIONSHIP CONTESTS

The new plan will cover all classes on projects at present conducted by the various farm boys' and girls' clubs in the Dominion, but will for the present feature five main projects by the holding of national championship contests, and exhibits at the Royal Winter Fair at Toronto, namely, for swine clubs, calf feeding and cattle breeding clubs, potato clubs, poultry clubs and seed grain clubs. All competitions at present conducted by private organizations, together with the trophies and medals for such, will be eliminated, and all competitions will be conducted under the direction of the central council, with trophies, prizes, trips, etc., provided from a central fund to which contributions will be invited from railway corporations and other private concerns, service clubs, etc., who have been effective supporters of the work in the past.

Nearly 15,000 farm boys and girls are engaged in some form of agricultural club work in the various provinces. The total number of clubs of various kinds now in existence is 829, with membership of 14,737.

new-fangled NOTIONS that make life worth living!

Modern industry has perfected a safe, convenient way to conquer home's age-old drudgery—washday!

Autos, radios, airplanes, talking pictures—all were "new-fangled notions" just a few short years ago. All had to conquer prejudice to win the place they deserved. Now we wouldn't be without them!

So, too, our better laundry service is a "new-fangled notion" to some women. They still cling to old-fashioned ideas that this greatest of home helps is an expensive luxury. Or that it is "hard on clothes." The truth is, this new type of service saves your money and saves your precious things, due to amazing scientific improvements. You only have to try it to realize the difference!

Fresh rainsoft water in every suds and every rinse... the multiple-suds method that gets clothes so spotlessly clean without risk to dainty fabrics... centrifugal water extraction that whisks clothes dry without wringing or crushing... these are but a few of the features that have won hundreds of local women to our service.

Schubert Club Sings To-night At Shrine Hall

The Schubert Club, under the leadership of Frederick King, will be heard in their seventeenth recital at the Shrine Auditorium at 8.15 o'clock to-night. The programme for this recital is well chosen and varied, comprising numbers from both classical and modern composers. The finale for the programme will be one of the most rousing choruses for ladies' voices that has been written in recent years.

This number, "Lochinvar's Ride," presents the well-known poem by Sir Walter Scott of school-day memory. The music is most effective, introducing interludes of Scottish dance tunes, and composed in the same spirit as goes into the immortal ballad is written. Dramatic incidents contrast with stately and calm descriptions, finishing at last with the galloping of horses—the racing and riding on Cannobie Lea "but the last bride of Netherby never did they see."

The soloist for this concert, Thomas Dunn, comes with a repertoire of delightful songs from both classical and modern composers, and has a record of splendid musical attainment throughout the Dominion. Miss Grace Allan, L.A.B., the Schubert Club accompanist, will play at the piano throughout the programme.

LUCKY ESCAPE, SAYS COURT

R. H. Clark Loses Breach of Promise Suit Against "Ma" Kennedy

Washington, D.C., April 14.—The shattering of R. H. Clark's romance with Mrs. Minnie (Ma) Kennedy, mother of Alvin Karpis, was a matter of happiness rather than despair, the state Supreme Court said yesterday. The court affirmed a King County judgment dismissing Clark's breach of promise suit against Mrs. Kennedy.

"It would seem," the court said, "that so happy an escape should not be converted into a cause of action."

Clark's complaint said he and Mrs. Kennedy made a mutual promise of marriage at a time when he didn't know she was Mrs. Kennedy. He did know, Clark testified in court, that she was using an assumed name. Mrs. Kennedy denied she had promised to marry Clark.

"When Clark discovered her identity later," the Supreme Court said, "he admitted he was not willing nor ready to go through with the contract on his part. No reason was given for this retreat."

A few days thereafter Mrs. Kennedy said she would not marry Clark and he sued, the decision said. "Assuming Clark's claims to be true, it is difficult to understand how he was entitled to any compensation on account of her declining to marry him at a time he was not willing to live up to his contract."

Pupils Recital—Miss Hazel McMahon, associate teacher to Mrs. Milton White, gave a pupils' recital to parents and friends at her home on Friday evening.

The recital, in which the taking part were: Mary and Kenneth LeLachur, Douglas and Arthur Strang, Ellen and Betty Johnston, Naomi and Bobby Webb, Florence and Charles Rowley, Marguerite Jones, Evelyn Finlayson and Vernon McMahon. They were assisted by Georgiana Wilson and Patricia Dyer, pupils of Mrs. White.

Veteran Lewis Regains Heavyweight Wrestling Crown

Crushing Headlocks Puts George Away In Two Straight Falls

"Strangler" Pins Former University of Michigan Star's Shoulders to Mat for First Fall in One Hour and Ten Minutes With Series of Headlocks; Second Fall Comes Seven Minutes and Forty-two Seconds Later With Hammerlock; 12,000 Fans Give Thirty-nine-year-old Veteran Great Hand; Lewis Shows Aggressiveness.

Los Angeles, April 14.—For the fourth time in a decade, Ed. (Strangler) Lewis to-day assumed the role of claimant of the heavyweight wrestling championship of the world.

Considered by many in recent years to be too decrepit to return to the troubled throne of grapplers as recognized in California, and several other states, Lewis yesterday evening terminated Ed (Don) George's reign which had lasted four months, defeating the former Michigan University athlete in straight falls.

The thirty-nine-year-old veteran of many wrestling wars crushed his twenty-nine-year-old opponent into submission with a series of headlocks in the first session and then made short work of the former national amateur champion to pin his shoulders to the mat for the deciding fall.

And strangely the 12,000 who shivered through the long first period at Wrigley Field, roared their approval for the grappler who had been greeted with boos as he entered the ring.

Six headlocks in a row terminated the first session after an hour and ten minutes and six seconds of spectacular showmanship. George appeared to be out cold, and was an easy victim for the second flop, brought about by a hammerlock in seven minutes forty-two seconds.

LEWIS IS AGGRESSIVE
The first fall was as eventful as it was long. Lewis showed more earnestness and vigor than he had since Gus Sonnenberg threw him for the loss of the disputed title at Boston in 1929.

George kept matters lively by launching flying tackles each time he slipped from the Lewis headlocks. Reverting to wristlocks, Lewis held George at his mercy, and then launched the attack of headlocks which terminated the proceedings. Another series as the second stanza opened seemed to add to the 1929 Olympic performer's distress, but a careless moment as he attempted a body slam brought the sudden end.

Lewis quickly took advantage of the opening and clamped on the hammerlock from which George could not release himself. The wolverine's head scissored, his chief asset, availed him nothing. At no time was he able to clamp it on the Glendale, Calif., cafe owner's bullet-like head.

George weighed less than 225 lbs. when he entered the ring at 228. Billy Sandow, Lewis's manager, added the final touch to the show by leaping into the ring, and speaking to the press, shouting, "So Lewis is gone? He's through, is he?" Then he announced the (Strangler) was ready to meet anyone.

FIRST WON IN 1929
George became a title claimant by throwing Sonnenberg here last December. Lewis first laid claim to the championship in 1920. He has long been considered the leading member of the Sandow grunt and grimace troupe. Jim London is the recognized titleholder of the other camp.

In the semi-final yesterday evening, Joe Savoldi of Notre Dame grid fame, made short work of Myron Cox, Venice, Calif., life guard, with a body slam in nine minutes thirty seconds. Savoldi weighed 205 and Cox 210.

Terrific Drive In First Period Gives Rangers a Victory

New York Club Defeats Vancouver Lions 5 to 2 in Third Exhibition Hockey Game; Rangers Now Lead in Series Two Games to One; Bill Cook Nets Pair of Counters as Rangers Get Through for Four Goals in Last Seven Minutes of Opening Period; Fourth Game To-morrow Night.

Vancouver, B.C., April 14.—With a torrid first period attack that netted them four goals and adding a fifth in the final period while a rugged defence kept their opponents down to two goals, one in the first period and one in the third, New York Rangers defeated Vancouver Lions 5 to 2 here yesterday evening in an exhibition hockey game. Rangers now lead 2-1 in the five-game series. The fourth game will be played to-morrow night.

Lions opened up the scoring shortly after the initial frame started with a goal by Osmundson. Frank Jerwa slipped through the Ranger defence and took a shot at the Rangers' goal, but Roach kicked the puck aside. Osmundson pounced on it and slapped it in. Lions continued to press until only seven minutes of the period remained. Then the Rangers started out in earnest. Bill Cook got a pass from Joe Jerwa to even the score. Three minutes later Butch Keeling, on a pass from Thompson, whipped the puck into the Vancouver net to put the Rangers one up. Bill Cook got his second goal of the game in fifty-four seconds later on a pass from Bun Cook. Just before the period closed Thompson rang up another to put the Rangers in a 4 to 1 lead.

Lions continued to press in the third but the New York goal was practically unbreakable. Five minutes before the end of the period Bun Cook and Boucher combined, Cook taking a pass from Boucher to score the Rangers' fifth counter. Four minutes later Sanderson notched Vancouver's second goal to end the scoring.

C.N.R. ASKING PARLIAMENT TO VOTE $29,219,739

Amount Needed to Meet Deficit on Interest Due Public For 1930 Period

Reports of Government Merchant Marine and Indies Service Before Commons

Canadian Press
Ottawa, April 14.—The Canadian National Railway this year will require $29,219,739 from the Dominion Treasury in order to make good its deficit on the interest charges due to the public for the operations of 1930. This was disclosed in the annual report of the system, submitted by Sir Henry Thornton, president, which Hon. R. J. Manion, Minister of Railways, tabled in the House of Commons yesterday afternoon.

At the same time the Canadian Government Merchant Marine and the Canadian National (West Indies) Steamships also experienced operating losses last year, the former showing a loss of $5,844,747 and the latter $1,362,655.

The railway report emphasizes its reduction in revenue was not peculiar to the C.N.R., but that every transportation company on the continent experienced similar set-backs. While avoiding any explanation of the cause of the situation which brought about such a condition in its finances, the report attributes loss of freight earnings to increased competition of automobiles.

Generally depressed trade conditions operated toward reducing the steamship earnings, particularly since those conditions complicated the cancellation of two important transatlantic services—those to and from London and Antwerp, and Cardiff and Swansea.

A hopeful note is stressed in the West Indies service, where it is remarked passenger transportation was fully up to expectations while the northbound cargoes of tropical fruits held up well in spite of the competition of other steamship companies.

REVENUE AND OUTLAY
The operating revenue of the Canadian Government Merchant Marine for 1930 amounted to $5,164,903.11, as against $5,371,441.23 in 1929. Operating expenses for the year were decreased $3,251,234.44 and the loss from operation was $834,210.89, or about $50,000 less than the 1929 operation loss.

The operating revenue of the Canadian National (West Indies) Steamships in 1930 amounted to $1,362,655. The Loss exceeded that of the year 1929, when it was $1,117,896.

Operating revenue increased $460,010, and operating expenses rose $536,306. The operating loss for the year was $523,136, as against $447,841 for 1929.

C.N.R. OBLIGATIONS
The Canadian National Railways, at the close of last year owed the public in funded debt $1,168,565,862 and charged against the railway in Government loans, accrued interest and Government railways was $1,330,008,075.

The fixed charges to the public are approximately $50,000,000 annually. In the West Indies steamship service $2,804,715 is owing the public in twenty-five-year guaranteed gold bonds. Omitting what is charged against the National Railways as owing the Dominion Government, the total investment in the three services is about $1,250,000,000. The Government account is $1,330,000,000, or the two combined, greater than the national debt.

In the statement presented yesterday by Hon. R. J. Manion, Sir Henry Thornton said: "The directors of the Canadian National Railways system have the same faith in the future of our country as inspired the activities of those who, from the earliest historical days took pride in the past and courage for the future."

LESS THAN FORECAST
The C.N.R. deficit in 1930 was somewhat less than earlier forecasts. The net earnings of the railways for 1930 amounted to $26,510,937. Of that sum, a total of $23,959,305 was applicable toward paying interest on securities held by the public, but it fell short by $29,219,739 of meeting such obligations. The total interest charges on such securities amounted to $59,921,400, and on unfunded debt to $2,257,622.

If interest on securities held by the government were taken into account, a further $32,067,461 would be added to the deficit, making a grand total of $61,287,201.

The total assets of the Canadian National Railways at the end of last year had a value of $2,344,690,737, an increase of $618,827 over the previous year. Investment in road and equipment amounted to $2,111,519,813.

FIGURES OF EARNINGS
Dealing with traffic revenues, the report shows gross earnings on freight traffic reduced by approximately $36,000,000, or eighteen per cent, attributable to general economic conditions and to motor truck competition. Passenger earnings decreased by $5,588,508, or 16.9 per cent. That decrease, the report states, was due, partly to general conditions, partly to increased automobile competition, and partly to a decrease of approximately $443,000 from European immigration traffic.

For the crop year, August 1, 1928, to July 31, 1929, says the report, it was estimated there were 210,945,539 bushels of wheat, valued at $249,347,174, exported, as compared with 207,761,367 bushels, valued at $185,786,026, in the crop year August 1, 1929, to July 31, 1930.

Referring to the Grand Trunk western lines of the system, the report states decrease in revenue of those lines was largely attributed to the depression which prevailed in the automobile and related industries.

EASTERN LINES
Net deficit of the Canadian National Railways on its eastern lines was $7,721,074.43 for 1930. The operating deficit was $4,420,062, compared with $3,197,375 for 1929.

The report says: "The statement on operations of eastern lines of the Canadian National Railways covering the mileage east of Levis and Diamond Junction, shows gross revenues of $28,598,553 in 1930, a decrease of $2,019,453. Operating expenses were $32,025,151, a reduction of $786,866 from the 1929 figures."

ROYAL ARCANUM DELEGATES TO SEATTLE NAMED

Local delegates to the Grand Council of the Royal Arcanum, to be held in Seattle on May 15 and 16, will be Carleton W. Stocker and Dr. W. Russell, according to the election for this post made at the meeting of the Grand Council 1913 in the council chamber at the Elks Club yesterday evening.

During the meeting questions of interest relating to the Supreme Council session to be held here in July were discussed. At this gathering delegates from all parts of the continent will be present.

At the next meeting of the local body, on April 27, Brother Murray Crawford, past grand regent, will welcome a number of new members coming up for initiation.

Community singing yesterday evening was led by Brother Bert Applegate. A quartette composed of Gordon Sward, Ed. LaFacheur, William Jones and Cecil Armstrong also contributed to the programme.

C. F. Carmichael, western field representative, was welcomed back to the gathering.

Chinese Customs

Have you ever heard of a "speaking pencil"? That is the literal meaning of "shu," the Chinese word for "writing."

Man or donkey beside giant "marble mandarin"

Chinese writing has been traced back to pictures. Many modern Chinese words show plainly the picture idea.

Writing is included among the Six Great Arts of China. The Chinese use say that painters and sculptors follow branches of the writing art.

In the province of Shantung are interesting carvings on tombstones. The carvings include images of the dead and of the living.

Three centuries ago Manchus soldiers conquered China; and Chinese men were ordered to wear "pigtails." At first they did not like the idea; but in time they became used to it. During the present century a movement sprang up in favor of having men remove their pigtails. A law was passed by the National Assembly ordering the end of that kind of hairdress.

DAILY HEALTH SERVICE

Mineral Springs Treatment

Serves As Tonic To The Body
By DR. MORRIS FISHEIN

Long before there was any scientific medicine, the ancient Greeks and Romans used to resort to springs, indulge in baths at a variety of temperatures, drink mineral water, and thus attempt to regain their health.

The person who reads the advertisement of a modern spring resort is likely to consider that the claims are exaggerated and quackish, because the springs are said to be good for every kind of disease.

The answer to this is the fact that the springs are not likely to benefit specifically any disease, but they are likely to accomplish a great deal in restoring the hygiene of the body to normal state and to benefit even the psychological attitude of the patient.

In the first place, the mineral spring provides a change of scene, getting a person away from the annoying conditions in his business or in his home, and thus improving his mental attitude. In the second place, he rests far more while at the springs than he did while at home; in the third place, practically all mineral springs have laxative or even cathartic waters which thoroughly cleanse the body under the best of conditions and get rid of waste products of the intestines. The activity of the kidneys is increased through drinking large amounts of water.

The skin elimination is benefited by the use of hot baths, which increase perspiration, and as the elimination increases, the assimilation also is improved. Under these conditions the individual is almost certain to be benefited, provided he does not overdo any particular aspect of the treatment.

People with heart disease may take too much strain upon the circulation by alternate hot and cold baths. People who are weak may still further weaken themselves unduly by driving the organs of elimination too severely. All of these points must be taken into account. If the patient remains at home he falls into a vicious circle in relation to hygiene and treatment at home. He is unable to break through this circle. If the person goes to a mineral spring, he changes the entire habits of life, and the improvement in assimilation and elimination put him on the road to recovery.

BENNETT'S POLICY TERMED "DOUBLE-DYED HYPOCRISY"

ready enough in 1917 and 1918 to peg wheat in order to prevent it going too high, "but this government seems to have hesitated to peg prices when they seem to be going too low."

The reference of the former minister to 1917 and 1918 was directed to the period when the Grain Board disposed of the wheat crop. A price was fixed in each of the two years, but the price on the open market went higher than that fixed by the board.

John Trilland, Liberal member for South Battleford, has asked for the production of correspondence which passed between a Mr. Whiteside and the then Minister of Trade and Commerce, in which the claim was made that a sum has realized out of the sale of that wheat, which went into the federal treasury.

WHERE IS $30,000,000?

"A large surplus was disposed of at that time," said Mr. Motherwell, "and the production of the correspondence between Mr. Whiteside and the then Minister of Trade and Commerce would show some $30,000,000 went into the treasury of the Dominion of Canada. We want to know what became of that money."

Canada should have consulted with the other parts of the Empire before banning imports from Soviet Russia, Mr. Motherwell declared. "The Government had declared a 'mad policy' in believing Canada alone could cripple Russian trade. The Russian situation and its probable effect on the world were important enough to be taken up by the League of Nations."

RUSSIA A TRADE FORCE

Mr. Motherwell admitted he did not like the form of government adopted by the Soviets. Neither did he believe in their attitude toward religion and education. He said, however, that a trade force in the world, and if Canada refused to take its goods and permit Canada's products to go to that country, other nations were willing to trade with it.

"You cannot base business transactions on prejudice," he continued. "Judgment must rule in trade. Canada, by refusing to accept Russian goods, has cut off her nose to spite her face. Russia could not be ruined or 'wiped off the map' by any single nation acting as Canada did. The former cabinet minister declared. Other means would have to be found and he believed this could be done only at a conference of nations."

SAYS "HUMBLED" MILD

While dealing with the Imperial Conference, Mr. Motherwell's attitude for political phrasing came into full force. He said that the use of the word "humbled" to describe Premier Bennett's proposals was mild, he said. The policies were "twice-distilled, double-dyed hypocrisy." The Prime Minister while in Great Britain had been "flamboyant, belligerent and bellicose" in his speeches. He had failed to realize compromise was the basis of a successful session of the conference. The Premier had gone to Paris with the result that France had bought only one-half the total purchased in 1929. He said that the business result Australia secured from the British Columbia coal industry on the price of wheat when it was low of price-fixing in 1917 and 1918 when the quotations were considered too high.

WHEAT SALES FIGURES

Premier Bennett's efforts to sell Canadian wheat also were criticized by the former Minister of Agriculture. The Premier had gone to Paris with the result that France had bought only one-half the total purchased in 1929. He said that the business result Australia secured from the British Columbia coal industry on the price of wheat when it was low of price-fixing in 1917 and 1918 when the quotations were considered too high.

Mr. Motherwell had a little advice for the successful farmer, Robert Weir. He advised Mr. Weir to encourage coal storage plants and not to be discouraged with co-operative marketing. The latter was one of the methods to which the farmer should turn.

BONUS FOR COAL

If a bonus of $1.50 a ton were paid on coal mined on Vancouver Island for export, large quantities could be sold to the United States, Mr. Motherwell said. He said that the business result Australia secured from the British Columbia coal industry on the price of wheat when it was low of price-fixing in 1917 and 1918 when the quotations were considered too high.

AUSTRALIAN TREATY DELAYED

Mr. Neill spoke of the delay in getting the new Australian treaty into effect. He said that the treaty was made in the speech from the throne, he said, "and from what the Prime Minister said to-day we can hope for no action this session."

SOLICITOR-GENERAL SPEAKS

Mr. Dupre, Solicitor General, utilized the occasion of his first speech to make a spirited attack on the Anderson government in Saskatchewan. He said that the government was "broadminded and unbusinesslike" in its action in the use of the French language in that province. Mr. Dupre hoped the legislation would be repealed, declaring it lacked justice and was "unbusinesslike and unbusinesslike."

FINANCIAL AID PROPOSALS

Two revolutionary financial proposals were laid before the government by E. E. Perley, Conservative, Qu'Appelle, Sask. He believed the government should pay the wheat rates on that part of the 1930 wheat crop below 70 cents a bushel. The conference between the government and the loan companies should be held with a view of securing the consent of the companies to the writing off of forty or fifty per cent of western loan interest of the government absorbed the remainder, he said.

Residential Building Activity In Home Building Reaches New Mark In City

Victoria Averages One New House Per Day Since First of This Month as Spring Building Programme Gets Under Way; Total of Twenty-seven Structures Started in Four Municipalities With Combined value of $94,400.

The value of new home building in Victoria this month has reached the $50,000 mark this morning when the thirteenth residential permit since April 1 was taken out with the city building inspector. The average for the first two weeks of the month has been practically one new house per day.

In the Greater Victoria area, including the municipalities of Oak Bay, Esquimalt and Saanich, the total value of twenty-seven new homes started is $94,400.

The figures quoted do not include large contractors and the numerous minor building jobs constantly in progress, being merely for residential dwellings. Part of the work is speculative building, it is stated, and is taken to indicate a reversion of money from the stock market to investment in the land and development.

Average $4,000

The thirteen new structures in the city have an average value of slightly more than $4,000, the actual total being $33,650, according to figures in the permits. ## KIWANIS CLUB NETS $3,240 IN 'T.B.' CAMPAIGN

Makes Donations to Hospitals and V.O.N. to Carry on Tubercular Work

Dr. H. S. Thompson Speaks on Oral Health Drive; Tells How to Care For Teeth

Net receipts from the Kiwanis Club tubercular seal campaign amounted to $3,240.33, it was revealed in the report presented to the club by Ellis Brown, chairman of the committee, at its luncheon in the Empress Hotel to-day. The meeting was addressed by Dr. H. S. Thompson, field secretary for the Canadian Dental Hygiene Council, who spoke on the objective of the drive being conducted throughout the province to improve oral health.

The report on the seal campaign follows: "The campaign for the sale of Christmas seals is now completed and your committee wishes to report that the total amount received, totaling $4,951.14, added to which is the sum of $116.38 interest on the old account, making the sum of $5,067.52.

"After deducting the expense of stamps, etc., together with ten per cent remittance to Ottawa and fifteen per cent remittance to Tranquille we have $3,240.33 for distribution locally $3,240.33.

"Your committee in consultation with Dr. Gordon Kenning, representative in the Victoria Medical Council, has allotted the money as follows:

"Royal Jubilee Hospital, $750.00.
"St. Joseph's Hospital, $500.00.
"Queen Alexandra's Hospital, $250.00.
"Victorian Order of Nurses, $1,500.00.
"To be held for emergent uses, $240.33.

"It was felt that as the Royal Jubilee Hospital had incurred considerable expense in enlarging the accommodation for T.B. patients, it now having forty beds for this purpose, that a larger contribution would be equitable. The amount of $500 was allotted to St. Joseph's Hospital with the proviso that it be expended for T.B. work.

"The allotment was again made to the Victoria Medical Council, which is now engaged in a campaign to secure funds for enlargement.

"It was felt that the preventative work carried on by the Victorian Order of Nurses was so satisfactory that the services of one nurse should be continued another year and $1,500 was allotted for this purpose.

EXPRESS THANKS

"Your committee feels that the opportunity given to all club members to engage in a co-operative and constructive work has been so favorably received by the general membership that they confidently recommend that the sale of T.B. seals be continued for another year. In conclusion this committee would like to express the thanks of the club to The Victoria Daily Times and The Daily Colonist for the splendid publicity and help given in the furthering of its objective. To the general public we extend thanks for the kindly reception of our appeal and the generous response, and we trust our disbursements will meet with their approval."

VANCOUVER FORBIDDEN TERRITORY

Mainland City Also Barred to U.S. Newsreel Photographers

Victoria Bureau Carries Appeal Direct to Premier Bennett

Vancouver as well as Victoria will be forbidden territory to newsreel cameramen from the United States unless they pay full duty on their apparatus every time they enter the country with no refund of duty when they return to the United States, the Victoria and Island Publicity Bureau was advised this morning.

The bureau is taking the matter up direct with Premier Bennett by wire to secure relaxation of the Customs regulation. At yesterday's meeting of the Chamber of Commerce directors it was reported that U.S. newsreel men were under the impression they would be permitted to film the arrival of the King of Spain and his party, and Arthur Currie in Vancouver by paying duty on their apparatus and securing a refund on returning.

George I. Warren, publicity commissioner, was advised by long distance telephone by William Hudson, Seattle, Pacific Northwest representative of Pathé News, that cameramen could not enter Vancouver except under the same conditions they entered Victoria. The regulations would prohibit them taking the pictures, Mr. Warren was also informed by J. B. Bredner, Commissioner of Customs, in a telegram received this morning that the order-in-council of February 27 cancelling the temporary admission of newsreel cameras was effective and would be enforced. D. B. Plunkett, M.P., said today the same conditions would apply in Vancouver as in Victoria. Mayor Anscomb received similar wires.

In the meantime in a final effort to secure admissions of the newsreel camera which would secure pictures advertising Victoria throughout the world the Victoria and Island Publicity Bureau is appealing direct to Premier Bennett.

Legends and teachings of the Sikh faith, the latest developed in India, were given before a gathering of approximately 400 Sikhs assembled here yesterday for the annual "Basaki," or day of prayer, during which the members of that particular religion commemorate the birth of the founder, Guru Govind.

The ceremonies, starting at 4 o'clock yesterday morning, continued until the evening in the Sikh Temple, specially decorated with flowers, flags and bunting for the festival.

Speakers, delivering their addresses in Punjabi, the native tongue, commented on the coincidence and related legends which had become famous during the life of Guru Govind.

The ceremonies were held under the auspices of the Khalsa Dewan Society, which meets here and in Vancouver on alternate years. From all parts of British Columbia, Hindus of this particular caste assemble annually to honor the memory of their teacher.

CARVETH FAILS IN ATTEMPT TO SAVE ORMONDY

Youth Convicted on Charge of Possession of Stolen Watch Here

Despite the effort of his friend, Theodore Carveth, to save him, Kenneth Ormondy was convicted this morning by Magistrate George Jay on a charge of retaining in his possession a stolen watch and was remanded till to-morrow for sentence.

Carveth, who himself was last week sentenced to a long term, tried to take all the blame for the theft of the watch from the home of a Chinese at Gordon Head and said Ormondy had no knowledge when he gave it to Ernie Hill, drive yourself car operator, as security, that it was stolen.

The actual story of the two youths, one with a gun, took the hired car and drove around for eight or nine hours a week ago last Sunday was unfolded to the court. Ormondy secured the car about 1 o'clock in the afternoon, Mr. Hill told the court, and left the watch as security, promising to return the car at 4 o'clock. When he was not back by 8 o'clock Mr. Hill went out to search for him and finally met the pair in the car, on Johnson Street. Ormondy promised to go home and get money to pay for the car but Mr. Hill a long drive to a stucco house where he got out and went to the back door. He failed to return after several minutes and Mr. Hill discovered he had slipped over the back fence and run away. Then he reported to the police.

BORROWED REVOLVER HE SAYS

Carveth was submitted to lengthy cross-examination by City Prosecutor C. L. Harrison when he took the stand in an effort to clear his friend. He said he had borrowed a revolver from a man in Esquimalt and hid it on View Street, securing it after Ormondy had hired the car. He had given the watch to Ormondy to use as security for the car. The watch was stolen by Carveth from a Chinese home at Gordon Head, according to his own admission.

In passing judgment, the Magistrate said he could not believe the story of Carveth.

PREVIOUS RECORD

It was pointed out to the court that Ormondy was at present on suspended sentence for an offence committed here earlier in the year. He had also a previous record.

With the aid of Saanich police, city detectives made the arrest at Ormondy's home near Mount Douglas.

Canadian Wheat Acreage Facing Sharp Decrease

Winnipeg, April 14.—A district manager for one of the large line elevator companies in Western Canada, after an observation trip covering central, southern and southwestern Saskatchewan, reports the probability of a very sharp decrease in acreage for wheat, and at present a very unsatisfactory moisture situation.

Farmers' operations have begun, but constant blowing and lack of even surface moisture in some districts have ruined even the summer fallowed fields by entirely shifting the loose surface soil.

Winnipeg market was inclined to drag to-day.

Forecast for showers over the American northwest had some influence in softening the market.

Wheat had advanced over five cents from the recent low and more technical recessions was due.

Washington, April 14.—Spring sowings were somewhat delayed in the southern regions of Russia, but were progressing in the north Caucasus and southern Ukraine sections, according to a cable from Agricultural Commissioner Steer at Berlin.

Insufficient number of draught animals and shortage of feed stuffs continue to cause some anxiety, he says.

Broomhall cable reports that crop conditions in Germany are not so good as last year, but are, nevertheless, good. No reduction in duties have yet been made.

"Some think that the market is just getting under way and that recessions will be unimportant," The Journal of Commerce to-day says. "They point to the fact that big shorts in July wheat have not covered and to the bullish character of European news and dry weather complaints from the northwest as factors likely to stimulate the advance. Rapid decrease in supplies on passage indicates European stocks of wheat are small."

"Technical situation in corn is said to be against the market. There is considerable corn bought against sales of wheat and firmness of the latter naturally makes the spreaders uneasy."

Winnipeg, April 14.—Local man just returning from trip to Regina, Prince Albert and Saskatoon, says big dust storms prevail and unless rain comes soon, there will be a big cut in acreage, as there is no use seeding under present conditions.

This may change, but there is a situation developing here, coupled with decreased acreage in other countries, that might make all present surplus necessary before another crop year.

WINNIPEG

(By Logan & Bryan)
 Winnipeg, April 14.—Wheat: The wheat market was more or less featureless to-day with trade volume somewhat smaller than on the past two or three days. There was fair buying by export and seaboard houses during the first period, and prices came back to the previous close and held very steady during the first half of the session.

Later the demand largely disappeared and locals were inclined to press the market looking for some reaction, and prices made new lows for the day, but on the scale down there was some buying by continental houses and the market was able to resist from the extreme dips. A fair export business was confirmed, overnight sales being estimated at around 600,000 bushels, part of which was won by the pool.

In the cash market there was a good demand for the top grades from shippers and exporters, and spreads on these grades were 1/2 to 3/4 better, but were unchanged on others. There were reports of a few light scattered showers in the west, but these were not sufficient to any more than lay.

Branderets available supplies of wheat decreased 7,798,000 bushels for the week, and now stands at 443,273,000 bushels as against 387,670,000 a year ago. Some rains were reported from the south including Minnesota. Winnipeg futures closed half lower.

Coarse grains: There was not much doing in this corner, and the market was strong, but outside of a little domestic demand for the odd cars the demand was thin. There was no export business in barley reported, while rye was very quiet and was following wheat.

Oats closed 1/2 to 3/4 higher, barley 1/2 lower and rye 1/2 lower.

Flax: Quiet and somewhat lower, closing 1/2 to 3/4 lower.

Liverpool due 1/2 to 3/4 lower in Winnipeg.

N. Y. Market Analysis

(Furnished by Logan and Bryan)

New York, April 14.—Whitney of the Wall Street Financial Bureau says: WORTHWHILE RALLY STARTED

"Without the aid of any particularly bullish news and in the face of a week and a half of a noted British economist of pessimistic tendencies, the market nevertheless showed that it is finding it much easier to go up than down, and incidentally proving that it has become poor procedure to accept the theory that every time the market becomes dull enough to get no where, the next movement will take place on the down side. It has been thought here that we would devote some little time to what could be construed in a major sense as a dull period to the extent that a series of fluctuations would take place within ten per cent of individual and average prices. In this period, however, it has been pointed out that the first real movement you could expect would be a rally carrying to about 178 in the Dow Jones industrial, with the opinion of the middle of last week being that you could expect it to appear at almost any time in the next half dozen sessions. In the latter part of yesterday's session I believe clearly indicated that it is now coming, and certainly believe it is worth playing for with actual commitments.

"Fundamental factors justifying a belief in the drying up of decline have been pointed out for weeks, but what is perhaps of more importance is that we have not only a congested short interest of record proportions all over the market, but that the shorts are congested in some stocks of rather important calibre after seeing that immediately rally we may well have to set back prices around these levels again. But the important point now is that the anticipated rally is now under way, and that it will go far enough to make profits for you.

COMMENT

"The utility group appears to be in the strongest position at the moment, with such issues as American foreign power, consolidated of Electric Power and Light and Public Service representing choice commitments.

"In the leaders I believe you will do well on this rally with American Can. A.T. & T. General Motors, Elsewhere favor McKesson-Tenn. American Rolling Mills, and United Aircraft.

"Yesterday's Supreme Court decision against the cracking process in the oil industry is rather important both to that industry and from several other standpoints in that the decision rendered may well be looked back to some day as a forerunner of a breakdown of anti-trust legislation and to that extent be of considerable importance to other industries which have found the necessity for entering into similar patent pooling arrangements."

Auburn Doubles Quarter's Earnings

Chicago, April 14.—Auburn Automobile Company and its subsidiaries for the months of December, January and February, comprising the first quarter of the current fiscal year, ended February 28, 1931, earned consolidated net profits of $202,408.78, equal to $1.06 per share on the 191,292 shares outstanding at that date.

This compares with the net profits of $98,623.88 for the corresponding period in 1930 or fifty-one cents per share on the same number of shares. The consolidated balance sheet of the company and its subsidiaries as of February 28, 1931, reflects current assets amounting to $1,021,792, and current liabilities of only $3,631,269.

In releasing the statement, E. L. Cord, chairman of the board of the company, said:

"The results obtained for this period were made possible by a highly developed programme of stringent economies, and by offering to the public, at the first of the year, what now appears to be conceded one of the greatest values ever offered in the automobile industry.

"The widespread acceptance on the part of distributors, dealers, and the public has been enormous, and in most instances, our principal distributors have delivered, in the first three months, more cars than in the entire year of 1930."

ROPER NEW HEAD OF THE LEGION

Ottawa, April 14.—Major John S. Roper, K.C., M.C., of Halifax, yesterday evening was elected Dominion president of the Canadian Legion of the British Empire Service League, in succession to Lieutenant-Colonel L. F. Lafleche. In tendering his resignation, Colonel Lafleche said pressure of other work had made it difficult to carry on the presidency, which he had held for three years.

Major Roper was first vice-president of the league.

Solid Business Groundwork Takes Time, Says Babson

(By Logan and Bryan)

The current issue of Babson's report to-day states:

"Investors are asking what's the matter with the market. People have been looking for a sharp rebound in stocks and business from recent bottom levels. Because this has not taken place, there has been a great deal of disappointment. We have expected right along that this feeling would express itself and we have warned clients against unreasonable discouragement at this point.

now CONDITIONS ARE WORKING OUT

"When a building is demolished it takes time to lay a new foundation and while this is being done little progress is evident, yet the foundation is the most important part of the structure. The building of 1924-25 period has tumbled. The 1930 debris is being gradually cleared away. This year a new solid groundwork is being put together on which a new structure of prosperity will slowly grow. The wise investor is not standing on the sidelines grumbling over the slow progress. Our experiences have taught us that after the expansion previous to 1930, readjustment should necessarily be completed gradually. This is why we have constantly urged investors not to be overanxious."

FIRE DESTROYS FOUR HOUSES IN QUEBEC

Snowfall Is No Lighter, St. John Charts Indicate

St. John, N.B., April 14.—Old-timers who thrill at tales of small boys with their descriptions of "sno'frit" snowfalls in St. John half a century ago, are quite snow-blind when it comes to actual facts. The St. John Observatory chart supplies these facts, and thereby hangs a different tale.

Official records issued by the Government Meteorological Observatory, Douglas Avenue, compiled from statistics of the last fifty years, prove that snowfall is dropping in waves each year, and that winter is just about the same as it used to be. The largest number of inches of snow is listed 1881-1882 when 147 inches were gauged, but 1922-1923 saw only one less inch. This year seems to be in a valley of the mountain-range trend.

SELECT CREWS TO GO WHALING

Point Barrow, Alaska, April 14.—Five new crews were reported here yesterday in the diphtheria epidemic which has persisted here for several weeks despite efforts of the eight adult police and native assistants to stamp it out.

Leaders in the Eskimo village of about 300 inhabitants and white people are selecting special crews to engage in whaling activities during the approaching season. Carefully examined crews will be allowed to depart for camps on the Arctic ice in the next few days. Visiting between camps will not be permitted. No women or children will be allowed to leave the village.

The whaling crews will be on the ice for about thirty-five days.

WHEAT CONFERENCE

Ottawa, April 14.—When a report had been received from the Canadian High Commissioners in Great Britain following the recent wheat conference held in Rome, the government would be in a better position to determine whether Hon. G. Howard Ferguson would be the only Canadian representative at the conference to be held in London in May. This was the answer given in the House of Commons yesterday afternoon by Premier R. B. Bennett in reply to a question from John Vallance, Liberal, South Battleford.

Piles All Gone

Without Salves or Cutting
Itching, bleeding, protruding piles go quickly and don't come back, if you remove the cause. Bad blood circulation in the hemorrhoidal veins causes piles by making the affected parts weak, flabby, almost dead. Salves and cutting fail because only an internal medicine can actually correct these conditions. Dr. J. S. Leonard discovered a real internal Pile remedy. After prescribing it for 1,000 patients with success in 980 cases, he named it HEM-ROID. MacFarlane and Vancouver Drug Company stores say one bottle of HEM-ROID Tablets must end your Pile misery or money back.

Trade Delegation, in Report, Lists Articles With Possible Market

Fifteen Agencies Established in South-American Countries During Tour

Canadian Press
Montreal, April 14.—Listing scores of articles produced in Canada for which a market is ready to be developed in South America, and making exhaustive recommendations in regard to steamship services, publicity and advertising, the language question, trade commissioners, dealers' agencies and other matters, the presidents of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce and the Canadian Manufacturers' Association yesterday issued a voluminous report on the recent tour of the Canadian goodwill party through Latin America and the West Indies.

The report stresses trade must be balanced and gives a list of goods produced in South America which can be imported into this country, recommending dealers deflect some of this trade direct to Canada by way of Canadian steamship lines.

The imposing list of articles for which Argentina, in the opinion of the delegation, offers a market, includes: Fox fur pelts, poultry, British Columbia Douglas fir, cedar telegraph and telephone poles, newspaper adaptable for roller presses, salmon, lobster, sardines in oil, tinned fish, frozen fresh salmon, apples during the off season, agricultural machinery, railway materials, building equipment and hardware, electrical machinery, sporting goods and automobiles.

POSSIBLE IMPORTS

Turning to possible imports to Canada from South America, the report lists the following products: Maize, linseed, pedigreed cattle, hides, skins, quebracho extract, wool, shiraz grapes, wine, bone powder, fiber powder, horns, beef and casings, dried blood, caseln and tins.

Some fifteen definite agencies or representations have been established or are being established as a result of the tour.

"THE BLACK PIGEON", ETC.

"No, because it is not true," Clorinda answered more calmly. "I was carrying a silk scarf until I reached the back hall, but I dropped it to the floor when I was slipping the chain and the bolt of the outside door. I did not miss it until I stepped outside and a slight breeze lifted my hair. I did not return for it, however, as the night was warmer than I had thought, and I liked the feeling of the wind in my hair."

"You see, she had no marble to get mused," Gigi struck in eagerly. "Her hair's naturally wavy—Oh! she broke off, then rushed on with tremendous excitement: 'Oh, Clor! How terrible! If you dropped your scarf inside the back hall, that means that the person who murdered poor Doris was somebody who was in this house last night!' She stared round-eyed for a minute, then, struck with another thought: 'Or maybe Doris herself picked it up when she came to see Arnold, not knowing he couldn't meet her. Of course that's what happened!' she concluded, and subsided against Dundee's knees again in a daze."

"How near to the summer house did you pass, Miss Clorinda, on your way to the house?"

"Quite near. Within twenty feet of it, I should say," she answered coolly. "I walked across the grass almost to the back door, since that was a shorter route than to go clear to the summer house and strike the cement walk there."

"Did you see or hear anything happening in the summer house?"

"Nothing."

"You heard no scream, at any time during your walk?"

"No! Nothing I tell you!"

"No splash as of something being dumped into the water?" Strawn persisted.

"I tell you I heard nothing!" Clorinda retorted angrily.

"But did you smell something when you got near to the summer house?"

"I presume you mean the perfume, Clorinda said coldly. 'You seem to know so much, am sure you are already aware that my sister sprinkled Fleur d'Amour upon every person who was in the drawing-room last night. Since my dress was reeking with the stuff, of course I smelled it. I did not notice a stronger odor near the summer house, if that is what you mean.'"

"Why did you splash that perfume around, young woman?" Captain Strawn turned sternly to Gigi.

"You may call me Gigi. Everyone does," she grinned engagingly. "I don't like this 'young woman' stuff as much as I thought I would. But you have asked me an embarrassing question. Guess you'll have to get out your handcuffs, because—I'm not going to tell you who killed poor Doris."

"Gigi did that foolish stunt for the "Yeah, says I!" Gigi blustered, shaking her fist at him.

"Nevertheless, and notwithstanding, Miss Clorinda, I am going to ask you to take us to your room now."

"Why?" Clorinda gasped, snatching her hand from Gigi's, to dab furiously at her eyes.

"Oh, just for a look around," Strawn assured her amiably.

"I'm coming, too!" Gigi cried passionately, springing to her feet and drawing Clorinda from the couch.

And so she did, flying ahead of the others on the stairs. When they caught up with her she was standing in the open door of her sister's room, which was on the east side of the house, next to Mrs. Berkeley's sitting room. She backed in, to make way for the two detectives and her sister.

"Well!" Clorinda was almost caught in a gasp, and very haughty over the invasion of her beautiful, tastefully furnished bedroom.

"Your shoes, first," Strawn suggested amiably. "The ones you wore on your walk last night. Also the cape and the dress."

Clorinda jerked open the door to an immense closet dressing room, snatched up the things he wanted and flung them at the chief of the homicide squad.

"I don't know one of the little gold slippers and held the sole of it to his nose, while his eyes watched the blood drain from Clorinda Berkeley's beautiful face."

CHAPTER XXII

"You see, Miss Clorinda, one can't think of every little thing!" Captain Strawn sympathized, after he had sniffed the sole of each small gold slipper. "You remembered to wipe off telltale traces of dew and earth from these little shoes of yours, but your nose was so accustomed by that time to the odor of Fleur d'Amour."

"Maybe you'd better translate it and call it 'Flower of Love'—your French is so bad!" Gigi interrupted with hard flippancy, her eyes blazing like an angry cat's.

"That you didn't smell it on the soles as you handled the shoes. But every criminal forgets something," Strawn went on, as if the child had not interrupted.

"I don't think so. . . No, wait! I remember winding my watch when I was undressing for bed. At that time it was ten minutes after twelve. I had then been in the house about five or six minutes, I think."

"Did you see your scarf when you let yourself in by the back door?"

"No, but I had forgotten all about it. There is always a dim light in the back hall, and I feel sure that I should have seen it if it had been there."

"Did you, on your way out or on your return, observe a letter or other thing lying on the back hall table?" Strawn asked suddenly.

"A note. . . No. I don't think I even glanced toward the table."

"Now, Miss Clorinda, when you returned to your room, which stairs did you take?"

"The back stairs. When I reached the second floor landing I listened, and I heard nothing, and tiptoed to my room."

"Why did you tiptoe?"

"I was afraid mother might have discovered my absence, and that she was listening for my return. On my way out, I heard her voice from the library, and knew she and father were having dinner and seeing over my engagement to Mr. Crosby. That was one reason I took the walk. I knew they would be quarreling about it again, and I wanted to get away from the scene. I stayed out till I felt fairly sure mother would be asleep, unless she had discovered my absence and was watching for me."

"And did you see your mother after your return?"

"I saw no one, and heard not the faintest sound. I thought I was safe," she said wearily.

"You thought you had committed murder and got away with it, eh?" Strawn asked softly.

"—You're being absurd!" she cried angrily. "Why should I, of all people, kill Doris Matthews, the most lovable, faithful, inoffensive—Tears choked her voice for the first time during the grueling interview.

"Daring Clor! Gigi sprang to her sister's side and dropped on her knees, cuddling the ailing, white hands against her tanned cheeks. 'Haven't you ever read any detective stories, precious? They always accuse everybody, whether they are guilty or not. Don't mind, sweet! Gigi won't let them bother you any more!'"

"Says you?" Strawn grinned.

Loose DANDRUFF offends

How to get rid of it—quickly—pleasantly—inexpensively

LISTERINE, NOTED ANTISEPTIC, FOUND HIGHLY SUCCESSFUL

If your scalp itches or burns, if your hair is thinning or you are troubled with loose dandruff, begin using full strength Listerine, systematically, as an antiseptic shampoo. Simply douse it on and massage the scalp as vigorously as you can. Literally tens of thousands have rid themselves of a dandruff condition with Listerine. They are simply amazed by the speed with which it gets results—often in cases where other, more complicated treatments had failed. One or two applications are frequently found sufficient.

What loose dandruff is

Loose dandruff is the visual evidence of a diseased or infectious condition of the scalp. It is most likely to manifest itself when the seasons change. Evidence seems to point that the condition is of germ origin. At any rate, the fat glands about the hair become over-active, throwing off a disgusting, greasy, whitish substance known as sebum. This forms in crusts and scales that betray you as a careless and unhealthy person.

Neglect is dangerous

The hair, meanwhile, seems literally to be stifled. It grows lustrous, lifeless, falls out. The scalp feels hot and itchy. If the condition is not treated promptly, eczema and baldness may follow, and usually do.

At the first symptom of trouble, the fight against loose dandruff should begin. Consider Listerine's effectiveness against this condition.

Why Listerine succeeds

If infection is present on the surface of the skin, Listerine attacks it. A powerful germicide, it kills bacteria in 15 seconds. The fastest killing time accurately recorded by science.

Listerine helps to dissolve oily crusts and quickly removes them, as well as horny scales. And Listerine quickly relieves that burning, itching sensation. It soothes inflamed or irritated areas of the scalp.

If scalp is dry

If scalp is excessively dry, a little olive oil may be used in connection with the Listerine shampoo, or independent of it. The oil aids in dissolving crusts and scales and keeps hair from drying out. Get a bottle of Listerine tonight and try it if your scalp is troubling you. Why Every Young Wife Should Have a Home of Her Own—Should Men Wait Until Forty to Marry?—Woman Who Prefers Her Figure to Children

DEAR MISS DIX—When Bud and I were married two years ago we went to live with his family because we did not have enough money to set up for ourselves. But now Bud has a steady job and we have saved up some money, and I am determined to go to house-keeping, but Bud doesn't want to do it. His mother is the finest and most likeable woman I know. If she hadn't been we would have been actually fighting long ago, but you know two women can't live together all of the time and get along well, and now his sister, who is a school teacher, is coming home to live, and I think it is time for us to get out, don't you?

BELLE.

ANSWER: It certainly is, Belle. If, as has been said, no house has ever been built big enough to house two women in peace, be sure that three women would scrap like the Kilkenney cats if they lived together in an apartment with 2,000 rooms. So follow your hunch and go while the going is good, while you are still on amiable terms with your mother-in-law and you and your sister-in-law have had no words between you. Thus shall you always maintain a pleasant relationship with your husband's family. The reason most in-laws get on each other's nerves is because they see each other too often. It takes distance to give them a perspective on each other's virtues.

I am strong, as I have said a thousand times before, for every young married couple setting up their own home, no matter if it is just in one room and all the furniture is bought on the installment plan. I think that it binds them together as nothing else does, that it enormously increases their chances of making a success out of marriage, that it gives them a purpose in life and makes them a better man and woman and better citizens and that it is the one greatest single factor in their happiness.

There are endless reasons why it is best that every young husband and wife should build their own nest. One is that if they are alone during the period of adjustment they are much more apt to hit it off together, and compromise differences, than they are if there is an outsider around. Of course, they are going to have their little quarrels, because no two persons of different sexes, with different characteristics and reared in a different environment, are going to have the same tastes, habits and points of view on the same thing. But when they spat, if nobody is around they will kiss and make it up and no harm will be done.

But far different is the situation if the family is standing around on the sidelines cheering on the combatants and telling Mary not to be bossed and urging John to assert himself as the head of the house. Many a tiff that would have ended in a burst of tears on Mary's part and John calling himself a brute grows into an estrangement that ends in divorce simply because Mary and John quarreled in public and their pride forbade a public apology.

Then a husband and wife who live alone are thrown on each other for society and amusement and grow much closer together than those who live among other people and are always in a group. All the little intimacies, the talking of everything over, is done away with when there are other people around.

Then, the home develops the wife as nothing else does. Unless a girl keeps on with her job after she is married she has nothing to do unless she has a home, and Satan finds work for idle feminine hands to do even quicker than he does for men.

It is the young wives who are living with their parents, or their husband's parents, who get peevish and fretful and discontented because they have nothing with which to occupy their minds, and nothing to think about except how many things they would like to buy, and how many thrills they could get out of a flirtation with some other man.

It is the homeless, idle young wives who spend their days pricing things in department stores and going to the movies and who pick up strange men and go jorjolling with them. A man who doesn't provide his wife with a home of her own that will keep her busy keeping it, adorning it, planning for it has taken the surest way of wrecking his marriage.

And a home is a good financial investment, because it makes a young couple save money to pay for their furniture, and that leads them to saving the money to pay for the home itself. It is a common saying and a true one, that if you never go to housekeeping you never have anything, because the temptation to spend on foolishness is greater than most people can resist. They have to have a definite object for which to save.

And furthermore, there is no greater fun than there is in establishing a home. The man who misses that has missed the thrill that you get but once in a lifetime.

DOROTHY DIX.

DEAR MISS DIX—I have a boy friend who says that a man is a fool to marry until he is over forty. He says that a man has to give up so much when he marries, and that a man is still young at forty, while a woman is old, and that the man has to sacrifice more than the woman does in order to have a family. What do you think?

F.H.H.

ANSWER: Your boy friend's views are all wet. If a man waits until he is forty to marry, he has missed the ten best years of his life, supposing, of course, that he marries happily. He has missed the rapture of young love, and the companionship of a woman that deepens every joy and lightens every sorrow, and he has missed those ten crucial years of youth in which a man and woman can adapt themselves to each other until they literally become one.

By the time a man is forty he has hardened into bachelorhood. He has gotten set in his ways and he cannot change them. The bloom is rubbed off romance for him, and he cannot love with the impassioned fervor of thirty. And at forty a man's children are apt to be brats instead of playthings. Their noise disturbs him and he cannot enter into their amusements as he could if they had come to him when he was younger.

As for your friend's contention that a man at forty is young and a woman old, I know that is a common illusion among men, but if you will look around among your acquaintances you will perceive that most wives at middle age are just as young and attractive-looking as their husbands are. The old theory that women age quicker than men is being discounted in these days when men live under such a strain in business and when women make a cult of preserving their youth.

It is ridiculous to assert that the man makes a greater sacrifice than the woman in rearing a family. Who goes down into the valley of the shadow of death to bring children into the world? Who pushes the perambulator and watches over the babies day in and day out, night in and night out? Who washes them and sews for them and feeds them? Every mother is ten times as much of a mother as a father is of a father.

DOROTHY DIX.

DEAR MISS DIX—I am a young man in love with a beautiful girl who says she will marry me, but she never wants any children. I love children and think no home complete without them. She says we will be happier without them because she can keep her good looks and her figure better if she never has any children. What must I do?

WORRIED BOY.

ANSWER: Break off the engagement, because the girl shows that she is vain and selfish and self-centred. Such a woman doesn't make a good wife.

It is perfectly natural and right for you to desire children. They add to the happiness of a home and give a man something to live for and work for. The wife, the child, the home, they complete the cycle of a man's existence.

Any woman who is unwilling to have children because it will mar her beauty is cold and unnatural, and a man does wise in avoiding her as a wife. But you are lucky in one thing, that this girl was honest enough to tell you before you were married that she would not have children, instead of waiting and letting you find it out afterward, as women frequently do.

MAIL FRAUDS ARE CHARGED

Seattle, April 14—Conrad Wolfe, who in 1929 had offices here as managing director of the Wolfe Engineering and Financial Corporation, was arrested on an indictment returned early this month by the federal grand jury charging him with fraudulent use of the mails, federal authorities said. Scores of persons in western Washington were induced by Wolfe to invest more than $150,000 in an alleged fraudulent gold mine near Hyder, Alaska, officers said, declaring Wolfe promoted the Cantu Mining Company, saying it held twenty claims on Cantu Mountain for which Wolfe and his associates said they had paid $250,000. The grand jury asserted the purchase price was only $3,200 and the claims have been sold through foreclosure to satisfy labor liens. Wolfe, the only defendant, was seeking bond to be posted here to assure his return for trial, authorities said. Or the 150 telephone exchanges in London thirty-two are automatic.

FAIR AMOUNT OF ACTIVITY ALONG DOCKS

Ruth Alexander Due on Thursday Will Be First Passenger Liner; No President Arrival

Empress of Japan Will Be Outstanding Arrival This Week; Due Thursday Night

The next few days will only be average ones as far as business along the waterfront goes. There are several ships listed to dock here before the end of the week but the busy days that usually come every second week are not slated this time as several ships are off the run and schedules have been changed.

The Dorothy Alexander is in drydock in San Francisco for annual spring overhaul and so the only Pacific Steamship Company's arrival this week will be the Ruth Alexander, which will dock here Thursday evening from San Diego, Los Angeles and San Francisco. She sailed from the latter port this afternoon at 5 o'clock.

There will be no American Mail arrival from the Orient this week because the schedule has been changed. The next ship of the fleet to dock here will be the President Taft, which is due Thursday night from the Far East.

Onbound on Saturday afternoon will be the American Mail liner President Madison, which will sail from the Rithers pier at 6 o'clock for ports in Japan, China and the Philippine Islands.

The outstanding arrival of the week will be the Canadian Pacific liner Empress of Japan, which is expected here Thursday night from the Far East, with Sir Arthur Currie and Lady Currie, the King and Queen of Siam, and a list of other notables aboard. It is also expected that the Empress will be the last of the fleet to arrive this evening from Capt. Samuel Robinson, R.N.R., master of the ship.

The N.Y.K. motorliner Hiye Maru reaches the William Head quarantine station tomorrow and instead of coming into Victoria will proceed direct to Vancouver with a valuable silk cargo and the latest list of passengers.

Corks Pop And Champagne Is Found On Ship

Jersey City, N.J., April 14.—The suspicious popping of corks amid a shipment of goods labeled "grapejuice" led to the seizure yesterday of 6,500 bottles of champagne valued by customs inspectors at $75,000.

The shipment had been landed from the Dollar liner President Wilson, which arrived from Montreal on Thursday. The ship was carrying a cargo of goods for export to the United States.

The customs officials said the champagne was an "on order" consignment, the transaction being known to the exporter and importer, the latter being a New York firm.

Japanese Flyer to Leave Tokyo on Monday and Will Stop at British Columbia Ports

Vancouver, April 14.—Vancouver will welcome a trans-Pacific flyer during the latter part of May, if the Japanese flyer is successful in his projected Tokyo-San Francisco flight.

The Japanese flyer, who expects to leave the Pacific this spring, is scheduled to leave on his flight April 20, and plans to complete it approximately June 1.

He plans to travel an extreme northerly route, and his first British Columbia port of call would be Alert Bay. He then contemplates proceeding to Prince Rupert and later to Vancouver.
